

He is an impish little penguin bubbling with curiosity!
He has to explore, play, taste, smell, poke, proud, figure out anything he finds and crosses his path, However, tends to act before thinking which sometimes gets him trouble.

He loves "speed" and wants to be very active but his legs are too short to take him to everywhere as fast he wants, But when he rides snowboard, he has nothing to fear and becomes real "speed fanatic" although he falls down more than riding.
Always bringing fun and joy into the village, Pororo is every beat as lovable.
