

Octoroks are one of Link's oldest enemies. The rocks they spit at you are easily deflected with a simple shield or a swing of your sword, though, and even the blue varieties (any Legend of Zelda fan will know that the blue varieties are much tougher than their red counterparts) are not much of a threat.

To be honest, death by octorok is actually quite embarrassing... :o)

