When printed at 100% scaling, these files will allow you to make a model that is 5 inches long and 2 inches wide, which are the exact dimensions mentioned in the Star Wars RPG main rulebook. If you're using the old 25mm figures from West End Games, it looks fine. But, if you're using the newer 28mm figs from Wizards of the Coast (the ones with the huge 1 inch base), it looks ridiculously too small. I've left a decent amount of blank space around the pieces so that you can scale the size a bit to better fit your figures.
