Nephenee

By Xenonray

Nephenee is a young girl from Crimea's countryside, specialising in lances. In Radiant Dawn she joins up with fellow villager, Brom to suppress a local rebellion against Queen Elincia. Later on they add their strength to the Greil Mercenaries and Laguz Alliance.

Being a Halberdier, she is a very balanced unit, whose all round defense, speed and skill allows her to fulfill many roles and wield higher level weapons effectively. Though individually, her stats are exceeded by other specialist units later, she can be a reliable unit throughout the game due to having no real weakness.

Notes:
This model is meant to be built in the smooth method. This is where you ignore most fold lines and only score the tab lines just in case. Some angular parts should still be built with scored folds so I'll point these out in the instructions. But exactly how much you smooth build also depends on your preferences, skill and card thickness.

However with smooth building, you should pre-shape the pieces first by gently bending them in the direction needed. The PDO shows valley folds as dot-dashed lines, and mountain folds as just dashed.

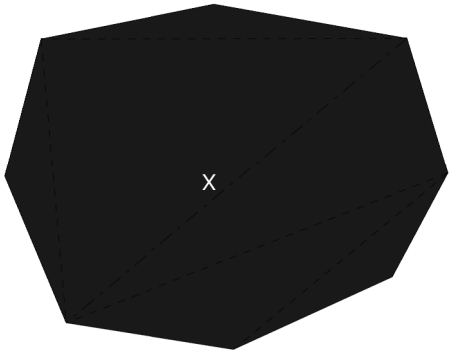

You must use thick paper or thin card for this model. Printer paper will not be strong enough! I used 160gsm for most of it with good results, and 200gsm for the shield and lance. She should stand on her own, but weighing the feet down will give extra stability.

The instructions and part numbers are only a guide and reflect my rough order of building. However I encourage you to use the PDO file (a must for a model of this detail) and think beyond this. My methods might not be ideal for you!
